A project funded by the EU through the European Solidarity Corps Programme with the sum of 120,433.17 EUR.

Dear Applicants,

As the National History Museum of Romania, we are looking forward to welcoming you in Bucharest. We intend to achieve the full potential of the project „Cultures and Heritage through Museum Education” – CULTMUSE, funded by the European Union through the European Solidarity Corps programme., therefore, WELCOME!

This info pack can provide you a better understanding of our first team activity of this project that will take place at the headquarters of the National History Museum of Romania, the environment surrounding it, the activities that we plan to implement together with you, as well as a broader image regarding the ESC availability and the programme itself.

About your host:

The National History Museum of Romania (NHMR) / Muzeul Național de Istorie a României (MNIR) first opened its doors to the public in 1972, it is a great representation of the cultural scene and the architectural heritage our country can present. One of the most prolific institutions of its kind in South-Eastern and Central Europe, the museum is a national cultural public institution and research organization. The monumental building that hosts the headquarters, can be found on Calea Victoriei, no. 12 in the heart of our capital city, Bucharest.

In recent years, MNIR has cooperated with various Romanian core institutions as well as international and foreign, various Ministries, Cultural Institutions, Research Institutions and Embassies. As a research institution, the museum has several open archaeological sites under its supervision, to name a few, Micia (Hunedoara county), Tărtăria (Alba county), Ostrov (Constanța county) and has specialists operating archaeological sectors on other prestigious sites all over the Romanian territory, Histria, Capidava and Ulpia Traiana Sarmisegetusa, being a fraction of such activities.

Within our walls visitors can admire our permanent exhibitions which are the Historical Treasure of Romania, the Lapidarium and the replica of Trajan's Column (full-scale exhibition), but can also witness wonderful temporary displays that bring life to the cultural and historical life of our country, of the people and the events that shaped both the Romanian and the European landscapes, but also wonderful representations that go beyond the mentioned borders.

As a public body institution, we are engaging ourselves in nonconventional activities that bring value to the communities around us. Apart from the museum's involvement as an organization with the ESC programme, the museum has its own volunteers that were brought here by their will and common passion for culture and history in a number that grows permanently reaching 35-40 volunteers yearly.

Project target:

The main scope of this project is to become a „safe haven” where participants can learn about European and Romanian culture by understanding and discovering their teammates’ culture as well as sharing about their own, to observe the differences and disseminate the information with both the team and their community at home. MNIR also find this opportunity as a great way to expand their audience and the number of communities involved in the process of cultural development and learning through culture, diversity and sharing of all parties’ heritage.

Therefore, our three main objectives are:

MO1: Establishing a stronger professional and personal evolution in the competencies of our volunteers regarding their abilities in regards of cultural management, values of non-formal education and learning about Romanian history and culture through multicultural methods.

MO2: Increasing the number of the beneficiaries that come in contact with the ESC programmes while it is made sure that they are as widely known as possible, not only in the museum filed, but all other types of public institutions as well.

MO3: Raising the level of culture diversity awareness within the community by interactions between various groups, support of everyone’s own personal and cultural heritage while developing a joint European identity.

The aim is to have 50 volunteers (25 foreign volunteers – EU citizens/residents) + 25 Romanian volunteers) use and develop their skills and abilities by using methods and tools of non-formal and informal education in a museum context, in order to learn how to share cultural and heritage values among beneficiaries and raise awareness regarding solidarity and embrace diversity in a multicultural framework.

A few informations regarding the host city:

Bucharest is the largest city in Romania as well as the capital of the country. It is a place of perpetual cultural and social development, full of interesting places to be explored and experiences to be lived by the newly arrived here.

Bucharest has a plethora of cultural places that show the Romanian culture and a summary of the historical changes that have taken place along the centuries upon our country. Cultural entities that are hosted in monumental buildings that advertise the Romanian heritage, Romanian Athenaeum, The Romanian Opera and the National Theatre, being just a fraction of what Bucharest has to offer in this regard. There are several parks that speak to the more outdoorsy, IOR, Cișmigiu Gardens, and the Botanical Garden, being just the tip of the iceberg when it comes to this type of establishments.

One cannot come to Bucharest without discovering the multitude of cuisines that have started to feel like home for many of our people, traditional, Italian, Asian, Mediterranean, anything for all tastes, no one is able to say that their culinary curiosities have not been satisfied.

And while in Bucharest, be sure to visit its unique Old Town, filled by numerous tourists and locals alike. The historical centre is filled with affordable pubs and restaurants where one can enjoy a meal or an outing with their friends. All in all, Bucharest has something to offer for everyone's tastes and needs!
